Dear Herb:

We are forwarding several sets of ASTIA reference request forms which indicate the titles and sources of documents which we should like to secure. Those relating to heat transfer in miniaturized electronic equipment are required most urgently since we are presently engaged in a design operation which will lead to the production of very highly miniaturized equipment in which the generation of heat per unit volume will be at an unusually high level. We could employ most usefully, therefore, all information available that bears directly and in an effective manner on the subject of heat transfer.

Sincerely,

Burt
